

Colton Woytas

cww7032@rit.edu / 585-415-8713 / @c0ltDawg

I use a range of personal tools - user experience knowledge + visual and motion design skills + passion for presentation and discussion - to take projects from a sparked thought to a full package that is ready for development.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Brault & Barnes [Summer 2016]

I joined the two person team at Brault and Barnes as a summer intern. I learned a ton everyday and I completed various design deliverables as we worked through a website re-design for a major utility company in Vermont.

Nasdaq [Summer 2015]

I interned as an interactive/front-end designer. Daily, I worked interactive lead to solve UX issues, handle client requests, and provide competent production support as needed.

RIT Hockey Operations [2014-2015]

As the only in-house designer, I was the one responsible for all daily designs like gameday parking passes. Larger projects included a special charity uniforms worn by both teams.

Rysco Corrosion [Summer 2015]

As part of the field crew I worked with various team members to conduct operations in the oilfield, collect corrosion samples from pipeline, and conduct laboratory tests.

EDUCATION

Rochester Institute of Technology

New Media Design, BFA
Business Administration minor

INVOLVEMENT

RIT iOS App Challenge

As a team of three we competed to create an iOS app in four days. Our app helped users make plans with their friends by checking keywords against Facebook and Twitter posts.

RIT Athletics Volunteer Award

I was recognized at the year-end athletic awards banquet for time spent volunteering in with youth classrooms downtown Rochester.

Thought At Work 2015/2016

I volunteered in the months leading up to the conference and I was fortunate to host a panel during the conference. I also hosted the official after-after party at my house.